BOWIE'S DISASTROUS FIRE

TWO STABLES AND A NUMBER OF WELL KNOWN HORSES DESTROYED.

Hauberk Victor in the Capitol City Handicap by a Narrow Margin—Amalgamator Defeats Manokin in Another Close Finish.

Bowie, Md., November 21.—Shortly after twelve o'clock today a fire broke out in stables G. and H. at the Bowie track, and in less than fifteen minutes both stables had been burned to the ground and at least ten horses had been caught in the flames. In view of the fact that a high wind was blowing at the time, the volunteer firemen had hard work to save the additional stables, but, after a struggle, checked the flames from spreading. Stable F. had a narrow escape from going down with the others.

The horses reported destroyed were Corsican, Yellowstone, Running Shot, Chelsea, Bootle's Baby, Ballygunge, Joyland and Father Riley. Joyland and Father Riley were both rescued from the flames, but broke away and ran back into their barns. It is more than likely that this list will be increased when the roundup is made, as it is known that there are at least a dozen horses missing.

The heavy loss was due to the fact that there were no facilities at the track to fight the flames and it is fortunate that the fire was not more disastrous than it was.

Green B. Morris' filly Rose Juliet was badly burned and will not be able to race again for some time. Bonanza had his tail badly burned and lost one eye.

The Capitol City Handicap, for three-year-olds and over at seven-eighths, served as the feature race at Bowie this afternoon, and J. F. Sweeney's consistent gelding Hauberk, which ruled favorite in the betting in the machines over a good band of sprinters, was the one to do the trick, although his victory was a lucky one, even though he was much the best in the race. He was not off any too well, and, in the running to the stretch, he was in a bad place next to the rail. It did not seem as if he would be able to get through. Fortunately for his backers, the field swung wide in making the stretch turn, which permitted Hauberk to have a clear course. Then he closed up with his usual great stretch rush and, catching Marse Henry, which had been the pacemaker, in the final sixteenth, was able to pass him in the final strides and win by a head. Third place was taken by Kewessa, which finished three lengths back of Marse Henry.

The Rancocas Handicap, for two-year-olds at three-quarters, furnished a rattling good contest, and four horses reached the finish in close order, with the outsider, Amalgamator, the winner. Ophelia W. set the pace until well into the stretch, where there was a general closing up from the rear division and, in a hard drive, Amalgamator reached the finish a neck ahead of Manokin, the favorite, Brooklyn third, a head away, and a nose before Bondage.

W. Feuchter has decided to winter his horse Skiles Knob at this track and has placed him in charge of Harry Smith, foreman for James Arthur, who has decided to winter some horses here. Skiles Knob was jumped on in his last race and his owner has decided that a rest will be beneficial to him.

Charles Primrose, who managed the betting rings at the Mount Royal track at Montreal and the Devonshire track at Windsor, Ont., accompanied by a party of well-known Canadian turf followers, will leave for Havana tomorrow. Primrose is taking the trip to look over the new plant that is being built in Havana, which he expects will be ready in February.

Robert Odom departed for New York last night for a brief trip to the big city. He will look over several yearlings that he now has quartered at the Gravesend track.

Fred Kraft has decided to race at Tijuana and will ship his stable, which includes Dandy Dude and Lady Little, to that track.

Bonero's First, the property of Captain Press, who races in the name of the Ottawa Stable,, died last night.

Freda Johnson was bid up $200 after winning, but was retained by her owner. E. Fred was responsible for the bidding.

REMINISCENCES OF GREAT YOUNGSTERS.

Have we a great two-year-old this year at present revealed? Knutsford might seem to fill the part but for his defeat by Dansellon; and Margarethal, were she not accounted behind Knutsford. Yet we have seen great horses beaten as two-year-olds, and by moderate animals, too. St. Frusquin succumbed to Teufel, Flying Fox to Caiman and Ard Patrick was beaten for the Dewhurst Plate by Game Chick, which, though far from moderate, had no pretensions to stay seven-eighths. So it may be that Knutsford will reassert himself, but in the meanwhile no one can claim to have a single two-year-old whose greatness has been clearly demonstrated beyond question, wheras in 1891, the year when I first began to write for The Sportsman, there were five great two-year-olds in the Kingsclere Stable alone, viz., Windgall, Gold Finch, Watercress, La Fleche and Orme. I remember them all well; Windgall, an upstanding, bloodlike bay, with black points, the best horse ever sired by Galliard. He won the Spring Two-Year-Old Plate at Kempton and the Breeders' Plate at the Newmarket Second Spring, as also the Newmarket October Handicap and the Liverpool Autumn Cup the following year; but Windgall was the outsider of the five. Goldfinch was one of the most brilliant of them; a tallish chestnut, of rather sombre shade, inclined to lightness of back rib and middle-piece, but by no means lathy. He was a smashing good two-year-old, and would have won the Two Thousand Guineas of his year easily enough had he not given way in a foreleg coming down bushes hill. By Ormonde out of Thistle (dam of Common and Trostle), he fully justified his breeding both on the turf and later at the stud.

Watercress was a really elephantine colt which, rightly enough, was not asked to do much as a two-year-old, but was, nevertheless, in the same class, or nearly so, at that age with Orme and La Fleche, for all three were tried at different times with Massacre, which gave them fourteen pounds and each one beat him, the longest margin being only a length and the shortest a neck. It was on Watercress that John Osborne rode his last race in public, when the big son of Springfield finished third for La Fleche's St. Leger, but neither he nor La Fleche had any business to beat Orme that day, though Watercress had bustled up the son of Angelica for the Sussex Stakes over the New Mile at Goodwood. That, however, was something of a mischance, for Orme had been eased in his work after his first Eclipse Stakes, his trainer thinking that the Goodwood race would be a simple matter for him. But in those days there were various interests at Kingsclere, and the fiat went forth, a day or two before the Sussex Stakes, that Watercress should oppose Orme, which he did to such purpose that the latter had much ado to struggle home.

Poor Orme! He was a really brilliant horse, better even than La Fleche, as he proved clearly enough when they were four years old; a hard, clean sort, with great depth and superb shoulders, he was balanced to perfection. He had a rather light, straight neck, with a good old-fashioned head; wide hips, with a droop from the dock, leanish flanks, with no great depth of back ribs, such as his son, Flying Fox, had. Moreover, Flying Fox had a shorter neck, clothed with thunder, so to speak, and was in this respect more like his grandsire, Ormonde. Howbeit, the formation of Orme was such and so balanced that I question if a finer mover was ever seen in action.

La Fleche, too, was a perfect racing machine, and there was plenty of size and strength about her, too, though the myth that she was a little one, will, I suppose, always survive the truth. She certainly grew to 16 hands, and she was not under 15.3 hands when she ran for the Derby, which she ought to have won.

Enough of these, however, for I do not wish to be pilloried as a laudator temporis acti, but it is legitimate to ask where in the whole of the country now can we find five such two-year-olds as those which I have mentioned, all of which in 1891 were in the Kingsclere stable, and in the following year worried John Porter almost to death by their vicissitudes. Turning up an old file of "St. Stephen's Review," I find that in the issue of June 21, 1890, I wrote as follows about the then yearling La Fleche:

"As to the sister to Memoir, I can only say that had I 4,000 guineas handy I would gladly disburse them now, and take my chance of a profit on the sale day. This is as grand a filly as a man can imagine. Had her sister not won the Oaks—were she an unfashionably-bred one altogether—still she would of necessity make a very high price. As it is, there is no knowing what she may fetch. A magnificent filly in every respect, she stands 15 hands now, and is positively an improvement on Memoir. Let anyone who wants to make a fancy bet risk whatever he likes on this being the highest-priced one ever sold in England."

That was a fairly intelligent anticipation of events, it must be admitted, and it is specially interesting where it gives the height of La Fleche as a June yearling. In the same string of royal yearlings with La Fleche was Sierra (sister to Sainfoin), which later on gained fame as the dam of Sundridge. She was knocked down for 1,000 guineas at the sale, on account of the Prince of Wales, but she had some nasal trouble, and he would not have her. Two years earlier Sainfoin and Memoir had been sold as yearlings from this same stud, and it is the only time the Derby winner and the Oaks winner were in one string of sale yearlings.—W. Allison in London Sportsman.

TWO FAMOUS FRENCH TURFMEN DEAD.

The name of M. Maurice Ephrussi, who has just died, was as well known in England as in France. His colors, dark blue with yellow spots, were carried successfully by Alicante in the Cambridgeshire twenty-six years ago, after she had run second to Sheen in the Cesarewitch.' Thirteen years later M. Ephrussi won the City and Suburban with Brambilla, but his best-remembered victories in England will be those of the horse with the curious name of Ob. As a five-year-old Ob won the Lincolnshire Handicap of 1906, beating Dean Swift and Roseate Dawn. It was a sensational race, and M. Ephrussi and his friends were reported to have won over 60,000 pounds in bets. The following year Ob came over again and repeated his success in the same race, on this occasion beating Kaffir Chief and Rifleite. It was remarkable, considering the heavy amount of money behind the horse, that Ob should start at 20 to 1 the first time and at 25 to 1 the second time. M. Maurice Ephrussi was born in Russia, but he went to Paris soon after the end of the Franco-German war, and he settled down there on marrying a daughter of Baron Alphonse de Rothschild. He commenced racing in 1877, his first winner being Dissidence, a filly which won the Prix des Champs Elysees at Longchamp. He took a great personal interest in the breeding and training of his horses, and he also distinguished himself as a gentleman rider. His first victory in the saddle was accomplished on Lamblin in the Prix d'Escoville. In 1888 he won the French Oaks with Serpolette II., and from that time forward he invariably had a representative in the French classic races, but he never had the good fortune to win the Grand Prix de Paris. He won the French Derby in 1907 with Mordant, and among other celebrated horses which he owned were Bariolet (which carried off all the long-distance races of 1882) and Martin Pecheur II. (which won fourteen races in 1884-5), Pourpoint, War Dance, Perth (afterwards sold to M. Caillault), Codoman and Monitor. Several of these horses ran in England. M. Ephrussi was sixty-six years of age at the time of his death.

The French turf has suffered another loss this week by the death of M. Adolphe Abeille, whose name is associated with three great horses—Callistrate, Champaubert, and La Camargo. Callistrate, which was bought as a yearling for 284 sovereigns, won the first Prix du Conseil Municipal, and also carried off the Jockey Club Cup at Newmarket in 1894. He was the sire of many good horses. Champaubert was bought at Baron de Soubeyran's sale for 200 sovereigns. He won the French Derby and ran second in the Grand Prix de Paris. La Camargo had a still greater career. She carried all before her as a two-year-old; won the French Oaks, the Prix de Cadran, and the Prix du Conseil Municipal twice. In prize-money she credited her owner with 34,000 pounds. As a young man M. A. Abeille had a distinguished career as a soldier through the war of 1870. He was present at the battle of Gravelotte, where he acted as standard-bearer to General Prince Joachim Murat. He was very proud of the ribbon of the "Medaille Militaire," which he invariably wore on his coat.—London Sporting Life of November 10.

EARNINGS OF THE MANY HORSES WHICH RACED IN THE COLORS OF G. A. COCHRAN

Thirty-two horses raced in behalf of G. A. Cochran this year, of which twenty-three were two-year-olds. A liberal buyer, it can hardly be said that Mr. Cochran reaped a return in the year's racing. Commensurate with his expenditures, not one of his candidates proved to be of high class, although a number of them raced usefully. In the course of the racing campaign, many of his big band were sold to other owners. Those retained are young, with the chance of improvement pertaining to young horses, and may do better in the racing of 1917. Certainly there is nothing lacking in the way of good breeding to prevent. His three best winners this year were Star Shoot fillies, with Genesis in the role of leader. These were all retained in the stable and may play important parts in the filly stakes of 1917. The record of the stable for the year was:

NOTES OF THE TURF IN OTHER LANDS.

M. J. Prat, the well-known French owner of thoroughbreds, has purchased M. Luis d'Aguiar's property at Chantilly.

Mr. O. de Lucovich, who has purchased several well-bred yearlings, for which numerous engagements have been made in Ireland next year, has placed the youngsters in charge of P. Behan, the Curragh trainer.

Exceptionally good entries have been secured for the two-year-old races at the Curragh next year, these being 250 in excess of the number received for the corresponding events this year, and many English owners are represented.

A truly game horse was Mr. Fairie's Aleppo, whose Chester Cup victory will be remembered for long, as it was one of the most daring pieces of race riding on the part of Foy seen for years. Aleppo was a great stayer, and a game horse in the bargain, and these qualities are possessed by his half-brother Telephus, which upset all public form when defeating Athdara and North Star for the Dewhurst Plate.

Herr J. von Jankovich-Besan, the well-known Hungarian breeder and owner of thoroughbreds, died recently. He was the founder and president of the Gentlemen Riders' Union. It has been decided that in future the Great Alag Steeplechase is to be called the Julius von Jankovich-Besan Memorial. The great racing stable and breeding stud of the deceased, says "Deutscher Sport," will be carried on by his nephew, Herr Andreas von Jankovich.

All the sires of the first three horses in the Cambridgeshire are standing in Ireland, though more money would have gone to the "distressful country" had Ballaghtobin proved successful. Visitors from the Emerald Isle were present in large numbers to see Lord Decies' colt run, and there was no disguising the confidence of his party.

Baron Edouard de Rothschild's Agathoclee and Creme de Riz have finished their racing careers, and have left Watson's establishments at Chantilly for the Haras de Meautry.

One of the most pleasing features of the latter part of the past flat-race season is the discovery that Sir Hedworth Meux owns a smart and staying two-year-old in Dansellon. The son of Chaucer would not have beaten either Coq d'Or or Vallance had he not inherited the pluck of his dapper sire, and as it was it was left to the last few strides before he could lay claim to any superiority. As his trainer subsequently remarked, "so many heads have gone against me this season that it was about time that one went in my favor."—London Sporting Life.

Belated Entries in the Westchester Jockey Club Stakes Arriving—Decided Improvement in Young Foreign Horses Expected.

New York, November 21.—About twenty owners of horses were interviewed in regard to the interview of August Belmont, in connection with "no stake races" as proposed by the Pimlico Racing Association. There was not one who disagreed with the chairman of the Jockey Club in his views on the subject.

One of the stewards of the Jockey Club was pronounced in the matter, saying: "Mr. Belmont is absolutely correct in his statement. Stake races are positively essential in the advancement of the thoroughbred."

Some went so far as to say that the Horsemen's Protective Association might take some action in the matter, though they did not intimate what it would be, or what it could be, as each association is a body in itself with power to distribute its money as it deems advisable. It can be safely stated, however, that none of the New York associations will follow in the wake of the Pimlico management.

Charles Quinn, who has much to do with the Johnson and Billings stable, believes there will be decided improvement in the foreign-bred horses next year. "It will not be at all surprising to me to see better horses than Hourless and Campfire next year," said he. "I look for great improvement among the imported horses."

Secretary McL. Earlocker has received another batch of late entries for the Westchester stakes from Grant Hugh Browne, who is now in Havana, and G. W. Wingfield, who sent the Nevada Stock Farm nominations from California.

H. Price Headley of Lexington and W. B. Miller, joint owners of the stallion Uncle, visited the Jockey Club offices today.

Letters from Tijuana to individuals here state the sport is improving every day. Henry Hanf left today for Tijuana and others will follow as the sport improves.

Frank Bryan says that the amateur meetings at Warrenton and other points in that vicinity are improving wonderfully and developing into events of importance in social circles.

FORMAL PROTEST AGAINST A NEW RULE.

Bowie, Md., November 21.—Joseph A. Murphy, manager of the racing department of the Business Men's Racing Association of New Orleans, La., has filed with the Jockey Club, the Kentucky State Racing Commission and the Canadian Racing Associations, a protest against the rule barring from races under their jurisdicton two-year-olds that race before April 1. His letter of protest reads as follows:

The Business Men's Racing Association of New Orleans, La., herein files a protest against the rule barring two-year-olds from tracks under your jurisdiction, during the year 1917, that are raced before April 1, and respectfully asks that the rule be amended by the substitution of any one of the subjoined features.

First—That the rule be suspended for the year 1917.

Second—That the prohibition be limited to races run before April 1, only on tracks within the geographic lines of jurisdiction claimed by the Jockey Club, the Kentucky State Racing Commission or the Canadian Racing Associations.

Third—That the prohibition be limited only to stakes for such horses as may run in races before April 1.

In support of our protest I wish to submit the following reasons:

First—The Business Men's Racing Association is not within the geographic lines of jurisdiction claimed by any of the above associations and it believes, as it races under its own rules, that its position is sufficiently established in racing to entitle it to the courtesy of representation in legislation directly affecting its interests.

Second—That the rule is without merit. Close analysis of track and climatic conditions will show that horses trained at New Orleans are as fit to run three and three and a half furlongs in January and February, as those trained in Maryland and Kentucky are to run a half mile in April. That there is no more logical reason for barring horses that run three-eighths in January, than for barring yearlings that are tried out, under whip and spur, a quarter of a mile in October.

Third—That owing to adverse legislation and other causes, the breeders of the country have been sorely tried for the past few years and that it is unwise to curtail the earning capacity of the horses they breed. The crossing of high-class stock does not necessarily produce a stake winner and it costs as much to raise a selling plater as a champion. The effect of your rule will be to make what appear to be culls of a sale practically worthless.

Fourth—That the alleged injury to horses racing early is purely theoretical, with no concrete facts to bear it out, while the records will show that many champions have been developed in winter racing. Old Rosebud, the holder of the record in the Kentucky Derby, was a winter product. Westy Hogan and Harry Kelly were developed in New Orleans. I might name others.

In conclusion, I beg to submit that an amendment, simply barring from stakes during the year, horses that race before April 1, will be satisfactory to us and seems to meet all requirements.

Speaking of the protest, Mr. Murphy, who is presiding at Bowie, said:

"We shall give a two-year-old race every day except Wednesdays, when we will have no race of less than a mile. We are doing this at the request of a number of breeders and horsemen. If the rule we are protesting against, as at present drawn has merit, which personally I question, its sole aim must be to induce owners to lay away for late racing what might seem to be stake prospects. The amendment asked for would be no sacrifice of principle on the part of the three associations. Abraham Lincoln once said that God must have loved the common people because he made so many of them, so in the same proportion he must love the common thoroughbred, to create as many as he does. Still, these horses have their place in the equine world just as the middle classes have in the human race."

ANCON'S USEFUL CAREER IN RACING.

The plater Ancon, which had to be destroyed at Bowie, Md., Monday, never set the turf world afire with glittering exploits in racing, but could run a bit and in 1914 was something better than an average sprinter. Except in 1915, from his two-year-old days on, he more than paid his way on the turf and acquired the following record:

TWO CHAMPION ENGLISH FILLIES.

Some time ago—even before she went amiss with a slight attack of coughing—it was generally thought that Molly Desmond was the best two-year-old trained at Newmarket. This is possibly correct, and may also still be the case when all of Mr. Hulton's horses have arrived here, but it is quite certain that she has been singularly unlucky up to the present. On the occasion of her first appearance in public she ran a little green, and this resulted in Athdara making a dead-heat with her—a performance which he is scarcely likely to be able to repeat. She appeared to have a mere exercise canter in the Cheveley Park Stakes, but animals full of excitable Galopin blood take a good deal out of themselves in a race, no matter how easily they may win it, and it was a great mistake to have run her only forty-eight hours prior to the decision of the far more valuable and important Middle Park Plate, in which North Star managed to wear her down and beat her by a head after a tremendous struggle. Her bad luck was more noticeable than ever in the Criterion Stakes last Tuesday. The start was a scrambling one, in which Molly Desmond and Margarethal lost several lengths, the result being that "Molly" had to give Gay Crusader eight pounds, his sex allowance, and a useful start. This last proved fatal, as she could never quite reach him. A dead-heat and a couple of head defeats within the space of a few weeks is by no means beneficial to a highly strung filly, and it is not certain that the winter's rest will enable her to forget such punishing finishes.

The tip direct for the Cambridgeshire was given when Diadem scored easily in Lord D'Abernon's colors in the race immediately preceding the big handicap. This beautiful filly is now quite herself again, and after the performance of Dansellon in the Houghton Stakes no surprise need be felt that she failed to give him six pounds and her sex allowance in the Hopeful Stakes. It will be remembered that, like nearly all the Stanley House horses, she had been coughing shortly before sustaining her only defeat. There can be no doubt that the form of our two-year-olds is in a hopeless tangle, and much ink will be used during the coming winter in attempts to unravel it.—London Sportsman of November 7.

OAKLAND AMONG THE TIJUANA WINNERS.

San Diego, Cal., November 21.—The old stager, Oakland, was finally moved into a field in which he was able to win. He stole an early lead and held his advantage despite the late rushes of Bad Prospect and Rag.

This was ladies' day and there was a good crowd present. Thirteen books were in operation.

T. McTaggart and J. Byrne were new arrivals at the track. They are anxious to get in action and will probably take their places in the saddle within a few days.

Harry Breivogel and Gene Elrod, of the Jockey Club Juarez, were visitors at the track today.

Charles Kissel, a former bookmaker and now a leading producer in the movies, came down from Los Angeles. He plans making a long stay of it.

A yearling by Plaudit, owned by W. Nestlehouse, was today sold to the Trocadero Stable. Florence Campbell, a two-year-old, was also purchased from Campbell and Jennings by the Trocadero Stable.

The filly Poppee was sent along for a good thing today, but she succumbed to the stretch rush made by Blanchita.

Horace Paul led a group that got in from Bowie.
